SUSTAINABLE LAND MANAGEMENT

LandYOUs

How to use land? YOU decide!

LandYOUs – the underlying idea:

Welcome in a position of a governor with rights to govern land use of an entrusted country. The situation is currently favorable. Your country resembles an industrial state such as Germany. However, the environmental and life quality are critically low and you have the next 10 rounds for improvements. The picture on top and at the end of each round illustrates the state of environment, agriculture, consumption and population. Each round stands for a legislative period of 5 years where you may decide on investments in education, urban development, agriculture or forestry. But be careful: A bad environmental quality or an uncontrolled population can bring down your government!

If you need any support, you may learn from the suggestions by Prof. Landstein. If you want to learn more about how you can influence the main indicators of your country, please read the game tutorial. Once you feel prepared, just start the game!
